Outset Consulting · Branding & Communications Agency · Remote

- Co-founded a full-service branding and communications agency and built a six-client roster of early-stage brands across health/wellness, B2C technology, gaming, and tourism in its first year — half on retainer — all through referral and word-of-mouth, with no paid marketing or lead generation.
- Bootstrapped the firm to profitability within its first year, personally serving as the outsourced communications function for founder-led teams of 1-5 people across four of the six engagements.
- Direct full-service brand and communications programs, including brand identity and messaging, social and email marketing, content, and executive thought-leadership — while leading the agency's own brand, marketing, and new-business development.

Select engagements

- B2C technology: built and ran a nationwide email marketing program (content calendar, newsletters, and ongoing campaigns) that generated and qualified inbound leads for the sales team, and coached the executive on thought-leadership positioning.
- Tabletop gaming: launched the brand's social presence from scratch (channel strategy, content calendar, and copywriting) and produced content for its Kickstarter crowdfunding launch.
- Wellness: delivered a complete brand-and-marketing starter kit spanning a marketing audit, competitive analysis, brand identity (logo, bio, and visual design), and a social media launch kit.
